VOLUME 10

Says WILL ROGERS

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal.—Well, all I know is just what I read in the papers and what I run into as I go along. I know I have often said in answer to inquiries as to how I got away with kidding some of our public men, that it was because I was like all of them personally, and that if there was no malice in your heart there could be none in your "gags," and I have always said I never met a man I didn't like.

Even out to Chicago last week, why there is just an awful lot of fine things about the world. I have heard a lot of things about the world. I have heard a lot of things about the world. I have heard a lot of things about the world.

Now there has been a whole lot in the papers lately about the much discussed prize fight between Jack Sharkey and this young fellow Schmeling, and the sport writers have had a carnival for a year or so writing about the "rabby" and a million and one titles that don't count. I was up in Houston a week or so ago and it was just a day or so ago that I saw a fight between a man and a woman. I saw a fight between a man and a woman. I saw a fight between a man and a woman.

Well, he told me a lot about the fight, and he told it in a very straightforward way. He didn't have any crying to do, or any Alibis. He said he knew that he hit the right on the bolt, but he didn't think it was below it. He said he never seemed like he was having any fight, that between every round he couldn't believe it, that he was fighting for the very first time. He said he was fighting for the very first time. He said he was fighting for the very first time.

Round June 22, 1929, here in what will be a record for the planet Mars morning papers. "A young man from a place called Earth flew in yesterday. He had been in the air continuously for two months. He had some letters of introduction from the Chamber of Commerce in a place called Venus in the morning."

What can we do for this Robby Jones that keeps monotonously winning all these golf championships? I would propose him for President, but I haven't got it in for him that bad. On the golf course it's just your opponent that is shooting at you, but it looks like in the White House your friends are the ones you got to watch.

Just been to see Charles Dawes, right from London. He is a lot longer than I am. He is a lot longer than I am. He is a lot longer than I am. He is a lot longer than I am.

That's a sweep. Dwight Morrow is going to give me a very valuable face. I was running on some kind of a platform. I was running on some kind of a platform. I was running on some kind of a platform.

BROADWAY

ELABORATE DRAMA OF NIGHT CLUB LIFE TO BE SHOWN AT THE CAPITOL

The super-screen version of the celebrated Philip Dunning-George Abbott stage success "Broadway" is to come to the Capitol Theatre Friday for a two days run. Glen Tryon, Evelyn Brent and Myrna Kennedy are featured in the cast. It is an elaborate talking, singing and musical picture with an intense drama of the underworld of jazz, night club life and bootlegging, or in the elaborate photodrama was directed by Dr. Paul Fejos, under the supervision of Carl Laemmle, Jr. It was made on an elaborate scale, and is said to have cost $1,500,000. Much of the action is laid in a night club, "The Shamane Cry," a night club, the present or in the elaborate cabaret or the past.

The famous Coconut Grove Orchestra of Los Angeles, under the direction of Gus Arnheim, supplied the music for the night club scenes, including both the sinuous and dancing numbers. Howard Jackson made the score and arrangement. This music is wonderfully reproduced via motion picture. Also, the dramatic dialogue of the play, cleverly adapted by Edward T. Lowe, Jr., the scenario, is exceptionally well handled throughout the picture, by the principals and other members of the cast.

The Ledger & Times was glad to afford to Esq. Patterson of the Concord district all the space he desired to discuss the road situation in Calloway county. This newspaper is always glad to offer its columns to the free use of any public official or citizen to discuss matters of public interest.

"I'LL TELL YOU THAT KONJOLA IS SPLENDID"

These Are The Happy Words Of Martinville Men Who Tested Modern Medicine.

MR. JAMES B. BUTTS

"My entire system was all worn out and run-down, just like an old piece of machinery," said Mr. James B. Butts, 508 East Liberty Street, Martinville. "I didn't have any appetite, and I was not able to do much work. Head pains all over my body. My kidneys were weak, and my back ached continually. I had to get up frequently during the night, and I felt tired all the time."

"My neighbor had obtained splendid results from Konjola and advised me to give it a trial. Even though other medicines had failed, I decided to follow his advice. After taking two bottles of this medicine, I felt stronger, and better in every respect than I had for five years. The neuritis pains vanished, and my kidneys are acting as they should. I'll tell you that this Konjola is splendid, and I sincerely recommend it to all who suffer as I did."

When taken for six or eight weeks, Konjola will work wonders that will astonish those who suffer from stubborn bile of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels and from rheumatism, neuritis and nervousness.

Konjola is sold in Murray, Ky. at Dale, Stubbfield & Co., and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

FARMER, KENTUCKY

Seventy-Five Farmers Study Dairy Progress

Marion county's progress in dairying was studied by 75 men and women from that and adjoining counties in a recent tour of farms of members of the county's Dairy Herd Improvement association.

When County Agent J. E. Summers and local interests launched a dairy program in 1928 there were few good herds and only 12 purebred cows in the county. One hundred and twenty-nine purebred cows and 11 bred-for-production bulls were placed on farms last year.

The association is completing its second year and organizing for another year. Testing has eliminated many unprofitable cows. Ballard Thompson pointed out three cows as being all that were left of 48 purchased in one lot. The Thompson herd contains 21 purebreds and as many grades. Plans call for fifty 400 pound cows. A 60-foot silo holding 250 tons of the visitors.

Dr. R. C. McChord, 40 years a dairyman, exhibited a cow that produced 410 pounds of fat in 10 months. Owner of the first bred-for-production bull in the county, he showed the visitors an exceptionally fine young animal. He always has tried to own bulls that would increase production.

Tom Bagwell has a small herd of quality Jerseys. He entered the dairy business two years ago with grades, and then decided to begin over with purebreds. He joined the dairy herd improvement association with only one cow in milk.

On the John C. Peterson farm the visitors saw a modern 36 by 60 foot barn with a capacity of 28 cows, and a modern concrete silo. Individual drinking cups increased the production of his fine herd, he said.

Practically all members of the dairy herd improvement association produce cream, which goes principally to a creamery in Lebanon. Marion county is cited as an example of dairy progress in Kentucky.

279 Herds Are on Test in the State

Two hundred and seventy-nine herds containing 4,723 cows were on test in the 12 dairy herd improvement associations in Kentucky last month, according to the monthly report of the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

One hundred and ninety-seven cows produced 60 pounds or more of fat each, and 410 cows produced 40 to 60 pounds of fat each last month. Seventy-one cows were culled as unprofitable, and

279 Herds Are on Test in the State

Two hundred and seventy-nine herds containing 4,723 cows were on test in the 12 dairy herd improvement associations in Kentucky last month, according to the monthly report of the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

One hundred and ninety-seven cows produced 60 pounds or more of fat each, and 410 cows produced 40 to 60 pounds of fat each last month. Seventy-one cows were culled as unprofitable, and

Seventy-Five Farmers Study Dairy Progress

Marion county's progress in dairying was studied by 75 men and women from that and adjoining counties in a recent tour of farms of members of the county's Dairy Herd Improvement association.

When County Agent J. E. Summers and local interests launched a dairy program in 1928 there were few good herds and only 12 purebred cows in the county. One hundred and twenty-nine purebred cows and 11 bred-for-production bulls were placed on farms last year.

The association is completing its second year and organizing for another year. Testing has eliminated many unprofitable cows. Ballard Thompson pointed out three cows as being all that were left of 48 purchased in one lot. The Thompson herd contains 21 purebreds and as many grades. Plans call for fifty 400 pound cows. A 60-foot silo holding 250 tons of the visitors.

Dr. R. C. McChord, 40 years a dairyman, exhibited a cow that produced 410 pounds of fat in 10 months. Owner of the first bred-for-production bull in the county, he showed the visitors an exceptionally fine young animal. He always has tried to own bulls that would increase production.

Tom Bagwell has a small herd of quality Jerseys. He entered the dairy business two years ago with grades, and then decided to begin over with purebreds. He joined the dairy herd improvement association with only one cow in milk.

On the John C. Peterson farm the visitors saw a modern 36 by 60 foot barn with a capacity of 28 cows, and a modern concrete silo. Individual drinking cups increased the production of his fine herd, he said.

Practically all members of the dairy herd improvement association produce cream, which goes principally to a creamery in Lebanon. Marion county is cited as an example of dairy progress in Kentucky.

THE VALUE OF SOUND DESIGN

New Ford engine gives outstanding acceleration, speed and power without sacrificing reliability or economy

The good performance of the Ford car, so apparent on every highway, is due largely to the sound mechanical design of the engine.

It has outstanding acceleration, speed and power, yet that is only part of its value to you. Greater still is the fact that it brings you all these features without sacrificing either reliability or economy.

That is the reason the Ford car has given such satisfactory service to millions of motorists all over the world and has been chosen by so many large companies that keep accurate cost figures. In every detail of construction it has been carefully planned and made for the work it has to do.

The design of the compression chamber is an important factor in the efficiency of the Ford engine. It is built to allow free passage of gases through the valves and to thoroughly mix the fuel by producing turbulence within the cylinders during compression. The spark thus flashes quickly through the whole fuel charge, resulting in quieter and more effective engine performance. Other factors are the direct gravity gasoline feed, the specially designed carburetor, the new hot-spot manifold, aluminum pistons, chrome silicon alloy valves of larger diameter, statically and dynamically balanced crankshaft and flywheel, the simplicity of the electrical, cooling, lubrication, and fuel systems and accuracy in manufacturing.

VACATION PRECAUTIONS

Article No. 2 by
The State Board of Health

Perhaps instead of spending your vacation at a resort you are planning to camp out this summer. If so, you should familiarize yourself with the health requirements of a good camping site. You should know that the top of a low ridge, the summit of a knoll with gently sloping sides, or on the high bank of a river is the best camp site. If it is possible, you should select a place where the soil is sand or gravel. Such soil assures adequate drainage. You should know that the top of a low ridge, the summit of a knoll with gently sloping sides, or on the high bank of a river is the best camp site. If it is possible, you should select a place where the soil is sand or gravel. Such soil assures adequate drainage.

Send Time Sensibly. After you have found a suitable place you should make sure that you spend your vacation time sensibly. Make your vacation a health builder. Go to bed early. "Early to bed and early to rise" was written as much for vacationists as for the worker. Improve your health and strength by getting plenty of exercise in the open air. Don't waste the precious hours of your vacation indoors. Keep happy, forget your business cares and worries. Worry is the foe of health.

If you are wise you will spend your vacation in the open. If you seek the open places for your holiday, take this advice from the United States Public Health Service. Be careful about sunburn. Do not expose your skin too long at one time to the intense rays of the sun. Don't be afraid of fresh air and sunshine but acquire your summer tan gradually. Don't try to crowd a three month's tan into 24 hours. Sunlight is one of Nature's most powerful medicines. You may be more sensitive to its effects of sunburn than are some other people. Individuals differ as to the amount of sunlight which they can endure without injury.

Remember that eye strain frequently results from direct exposure to sunlight for a long period of time. Disturbances of the circulatory and nervous systems may also be brought about by long exposure. Sun baths, like water baths, are beneficial provided you do not remain in them too long. Don't make bad use of one of Nature's good medicines. Get the full value out of the sunshine this summer. Sunlight is one of the best germicides and disinfectants known to man. Many harmful bacteria that multiply with great rapidity in places not exposed to sunlight will die after exposure for half an hour.

The County Agent Says:

Reports from the office of County Agent C. O. Dickey that the condition of the poultry business of Calloway County shows cause for flock owners to have strong hearts. Our good management and watchfulness through this time of depression, unemployment has finally caused a slump in poultry and eggs as it has in other parts of the county.

Flock owners can do two things at present to help increase their income. Every farm flock contains about 100 per cent culls who do not produce enough eggs to pay the feed bill. These can be eliminated from the flock between the middle of July and the first of September by culling the flocks for egg production.

By culling the culls, you not only stand a chance of getting more per pound for them in March, but also can increase in pounds on the bird at an increased price. Culls should weigh on one to two pounds to be caponized.

County Agent C. O. Dickey will be glad to teach Calloway County farmers, through demonstrations how to cull their flocks for egg production and caponize their culls. He will hold culling and caponizing demonstrations in communities of the county on request. If you want one in your community get in touch with him.

The unusual suckering of tobacco which is common this year in all sections of Calloway County according to County Agent, C. O. Dickey, is causing much comment among the farmers as to the best way of handling the situation.

Mr. E. J. Kinney, associate Agronomist for the University of Kentucky, says "that it seems to be occurring all over the state both in the Burley section and in the dark tobacco section. It seems to be occurring also regarding the size of the tobacco. It is caused by a seasonal condition that no one knows definitely about."

"In regard to pulling these suckers off, I think this would be a very undesirable procedure at the present time; at least I do not think they will cause much damage and probably not grow very fast. Pulling would just tend to mature the tobacco and would probably prevent its making a normal growth. Better just let the suckers be at the present time and pull them off at topping time. Of course if they grow so very rank that they threaten to threaten the growth of the main stalk, it may be necessary to remove them, but I would not remove them unless it was absolutely necessary."

This is a new experience that most tobacco growers of Calloway County are facing and it would be well to follow the advice of Mr. Kinney in the matter.

KENTUCKY AUTHORS

Dr. George F. Payne

Another Kentucky author of note is Dr. George F. Payne of Louisville, Kentucky. His book, "Kentucky and Other Poems," has created much favorable comment in and around Louisville. His poems are simple and interestingly written; his style being much the same as that of Dr. Cotton Noe, famous poet of the University of Kentucky. Dr. Payne published the book at his own expense for distribution among his hospital patients and friends, and has never written for anything more than the pure joy of it.

Although a Kentuckian at heart, Dr. Payne is an Indian by birth. He was born near Henryville in Clark County, August 28, 1861. In 1881 at the age of twenty years he was graduated from Literary College. For the following ten years he was a school teacher, but gave it up to study for a doctor, and in 1896 he was graduated from the Hospital College of Medicine at Louisville.

Dr. Payne has been practicing his profession through all the intervening years, and he one of the oldest members of the Jefferson County, and Kentucky State Medical societies.

Other than "Kentucky and other poems," Dr. Payne has written, "Historical Sketch of Lewis Lodge," which is a lengthy poem of about twenty pages. He has written numerous other poems for various occasions but always without thought of money reward.

Comes Back Strong

After the World War, John Lutz of 1110 Waverly Ave. in San Antonio, came back home with a stomach which kept him in misery. "I couldn't find a thing to help me very much until a friend suggested I try Herbine," says Mr. Lutz, who is a service officer on Alamo Post No. 2, American Legion. "I can't say too much for Herbine since it fixed me up so I can eat again, and the pain I had in my back stopped. I never felt better in my life." Herbine helps the stomach and bowels to take care of the food you eat, so you do not suffer from the gas which causes indigestion, biliousness, sick headache and constipation. Fresh Air Campaign Seeks Summer Homes For Needy Children

Offers of homes for applicants for vacations through the Fresh Air Campaign of The Courier-Journal and The Louisville Times have come in slowly during the first week of the campaign. A sharp rise in temperature in the city caused an increase in the number of applications, making the need for homes greater than before.

Residents of Southern Indiana have invited nine boys and girls for country outings, to be entertained in six homes. Thirty boys will spend vacations at a Boy Scout camp in Nicholas County. The camp was obtained through D. W. Sapp, Carliac scoutmaster, and Warren Plumer of the Carliac-Mercery. No Nicholas homes have been offered. Harro and Hefey Counties each have offered homes to three children, and residents of Mercer and Warren each will entertain two. Offers for homes for one child have been made by residents of Breckinridge, Garrard, and Simpson.

Nine children already have been sent to vacation homes. Transportation was furnished for seven of these children, helping to reduce expenses of the campaign and provide vacations for more children if homes are offered. The Colonial Stages will carry children to and from vacation homes on its lines without charge, through arrangements made by Courtney J. Kauffman, district passenger agent for the bus company.

Those who are able to provide a vacation home for a child for a week or ten days are urged to send their invitations either to The Ledger & Times or to the Fresh Air Committee of The Courier-Journal and The Louisville Times. Every child must pass a thorough physical examination before leaving the city.

American Elk Splendid

Creation of the Wild
The American elk, or wapiti, is the most beautiful and stately of the deer tribe. It is not actually an elk, for the name really belongs to the elk of Europe, an animal very closely related to our wapiti.

Some of the Indian tribes called him wapiti, and we might well let it go at that, believing that it is a good name, unless you prefer Newton Park in Nature Magazine. At any rate, when I first saw one of these great, tall antlered bulls looking at me as I drove up the edge of the lake, my heart certainly went wapiti-wapiti-wapiti.

I remembered that once upon a time these kind-one fellows had ranged from the Atlantic slope to the Rocky mountains and beyond to the very Pacific; but now there were but few left, and most of those were here in the Rocky mountain woods.

While elk are content to stay in the mountains during the summer, the deer winter snows drive them down to the valleys, where men make fences out of piled antlers.

Music Students Exert

in Alacrity of Mind
One of the claims made for music is that it quickens the mental processes. This contention is right. Students of music are invariably better advanced in the thinking line than those who have no interest in musical affairs. Further, our association with musical claims has caused us to marvel at the alertness of their minds when applied to problems other than music. At reports none is quicker than the tongue of the musician.

Van Bulow's wit, for example, was instantaneous. His rivals could never get the best of him. Of one of William Sterndale Bennett's positions he once said: "It is so much like Mendelssohn that one might have thought Sir Julius Benedict had written it." Of Massenet he said: "His is in his predecessor. Verdi, his own successor, who will live long after him." Once when sailing on an ocean liner he looked longly at the landscape and remarked: "How lucky those fellows are! They can eat their lunch without music."

Medical Lore

The first great anatomist was Andreas Vesalius, professor of anatomy at Padua, who, when only twenty-three, dissected the human body and drew valuable conclusions from his accurate observations. Among the interesting facts related by Howard W. Hargrave, M. D., an associate professor of applied physiology, Yale university, in his "Life, Drugs and Doctors," is the story of the Science of Healing From Medicine Man to Doctor, are that Cotton Mather, which flatter, as an early defender of vaccination, was the first to make the distinction; that the first wartime medical agreement, forerunner of the modern work of the Red Cross, was between the French and the English after the battle of Gettysburg; and that Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes was the first to discover that puerperal fever was infectious.

World's Coal Fields

North America, Europe and Asia have the chief fields in the world. The coal fields of China are vast and of great promise, but are still practically untouched. North America possesses all the conditions in the extent and variety of its fuel supplies, and the United States leads the world in coal production. There is little prospect of any country surpassing it before that far-distant day when the great coal fields of China are well opened. The coal resources of the United States are 51.8 per cent of the total for the entire world, which in 1927 was estimated at 7,657,000 metric tons.

Pretty Italian Legend

A beautiful legend of early days in Italy, writes Salla S. Cole in his book, "Bella," was so devoted to the large bell which he rang every day that when orders were given for it to be kept silent for a time his grief was unbearable. He climbed to the belfry, threw his arms about the bell, and wept. Hearing against it he yelled so bitterly and so loudly, and the sound of his voice was so unattended by the metal that the walls were heard like the mournful wailing of a bell all over the city and far out into the country beyond. There he died, so the story goes, broken hearted, still clinging to his beloved bell.

Diving Suit Not So New

How long ago is it that the first diving dress was invented? One would suppose it to be a pretty recent invention, says the Outlook Magazine. It is somewhat astonishing to find that a patent was granted to John Sappington on March 17, 1868, for a new engine and for his contrivance as to permit a person enclosed in it to walk under water, and of a new invention way to force air into any depth of water to supply the person in the said engine there-with, and for containing a lamp burning under water, also a way to purify the air so as to make the same serviceable for respiration.

"Things I Ate Hurt Me"

"I HAD a severe case of indigestion," says Mrs. Ball Buckheister, 7 River St., Piedmont, S. C. "So many things that I ate hurt me. I almost quit eating. I had severe headache, and such a tight, smothering feeling. I would be obliged to eat a little, then it would hurt me. A friend said to me: 'Why don't you take Black-Draught?' 'I was just too weak then to do my work. I began taking small doses of Black-Draught and in just a few weeks I could eat anything I wanted to, then take my small dose of Black-Draught and feel fine. I soon regained my health and strength.' Costs only 1 cent a dose. THEOPHILUS

BLACK-DRAUGHT
For CONSTIPATION, INDIGESTION, BILIOUSNESS, WOMEN who need a tonic should take BLACK-DRAUGHT.

ONE of the most common and troublesome poultry diseases, chicken cholera or sorehead, has been practically conquered. Science has again come to the aid of the poultry industry.

This disorder, or more properly, group of associated disorders, has long been dreaded by poultrymen in the Southern States, though it probably causes much greater loss in the Northern poultry belt. It usually appears after the young birds have been seasonally carried through the brooding season and in a very short time it completely reduces or even wipes out the expected profits from the flock. It may appear in flocks which are evenly mixed and prosperously fed, though naturally such are in good condition and are able to resist the disease for longer than flocks which are overworked and housed in filthy build.

THE symptoms are well, from months ago well known to most poultrymen. The affected birds lose appetite and eat but little, less than under normal conditions. They appear dull and indifferent and are inactive. The body temperature rises, the plumage becomes ruffled, and common comb and wattles begin to droop.

Shortly thereafter the characteristic "sorehead" appears on the head, neck and comb, sometimes on various other parts of the body. If the disorder assumes the diptheritic form, the head and neck swell and yellowish patches of canker will appear in the mouth and throat. Sometimes these patches will invade the windpipe accompanied by a sticky secretion which may practically close this air passage. A loose mass of the bowels may also develop, the discharge being slimy, greenish or yellowish in color.

Those affected birds lose weight and in many epidemics the death rate is high. And always the outbreak is small, and the recovery period to make recovery, with consequent loss to their owner.

SORE head is caused by a tiny virus and the infection spreads rapidly when once introduced on the body. It may be carried from flock to flock by sparrows and other birds, mosquitoes or visitors, or by shipping crates. When the disease actually appears in the flock, the treatment involves much more detail work and requires frequent examinations to see that the greatest emphasis should be placed on prevention rather than cure. Highly effective methods of prevention have recently been perfected.

Those are all familiar with the vaccination method which so largely has been applied in the following. Exactly the same method of vaccination with a live-virus vaccine, poultry practically complete immunity against the disease of chicken cholera. The method is so simple that any person can use it and the results have been so general that it may be called a "cure" that it can be done.

Builders Fear Ravages

of Death-Watch Beetle

Builders in London are now being warned of a new pest which has been discovered in the woodwork of houses. The pest is the death-watch beetle, which is a small, dark, oval beetle, about 1/4 inch long, and 1/8 inch wide. It is a very destructive pest, and it is feared that it will cause great damage to the woodwork of houses.

These tiny borers are feared for their destructive habits and they have long been associated with superstitious beliefs. In the quiet of the night, when the hammering of the insect is heard in the home of the European peasant, the sound brings uneasiness because of the primitive superstition that the nocturnal tattoo presages the death of some member of the family or of a neighbor.

The death-watch beetle and his numerous cousins belong to the group Plinthei. They do not always choose for their food such structures as Sir Christopher Wren's church at St. Lawrence Jewry, for old books, furniture, house timbers, drugs, ship's stores, piles of old paper and tobacco are included in the pest's diet. One member of the family thrives on opium, another feeds on capelin and a third has a pronounced weakness for dried tobacco—New York Times Magazine.

Golden Words Uttered

by Tongues of Unknown

There are hundreds of people whose names we do not know though their words have passed into history.

There is the nameless, well-dressed woman who, meeting Wordsworth walking by Loch Katrine one evening, observed, "What, you are sleeping westward?" She gave the poet the idea for his poem, "Sleeping Westward."

There is the watchman who, under Peggy's window crying, "Past one of the clock, and a cold, frosty morning!"

There is the man who first invented the Breton fisherman's petition as he put out to sea, "Oh, God, do thou help and guard me; the sea is so wide and my boat is so small."

And who was the poor old dame who, when questioned by a kindly bishop, held up her dry crust and said, "I have all this, and faith?"

There are, of course, all the unknown whose words are said and said around the world and will not pass away.

Disavowal of Liability

"He washed his hands of the entire affair," we read every now and then, with implication, that the person of whom this is said simply refused responsibility for or interest in the particular matter under discussion.

Certainly, if any phrase sounded modern, this one does; and yet, surprising as it may seem, it is a direct allusion to Matthew 27:24.

"When Pilate saw that he could prevail no longer, he took water and washed his hands before the multitude, saying, I am innocent of the blood of this just person."

Ice Age "Turkeys"

Turkeylike birds once nested in the region now occupied by the city of Los Angeles, Calif. This fact has been brought to light in the course of a review of the ice age birds of Rancho La Brea tar pits in the collection of the Los Angeles Museum. The review was undertaken by Dr. Hildegarde Howard, of the museum, for the purpose of establishing a census of the birds of the region. It was found that of about 500 individuals of the extinct turkeylike bird, Paraxo, represented in these collections, more than 150 were young birds, many of them only chicks.

Funeral and Burial Services.—The funeral of Mrs. Mary Bernice Puckett was held Wednesday afternoon, June 25, in Dexter. A large crowd of sorrowing friends and relatives attended the funeral services which were held in the Dexter M. E. church by Rev. Alford Harris. Mrs. Puckett died in Riverside Hospital, Paducah, on June 24 following a 10 months illness of complications.

She is survived by her mother, Mrs. Molly Vincent and her step-father, Reese Vincent; one sister, Miss Cora Puckett; two half-sisters, Mrs. Jewel Puckett Ford and Mrs. Lois Puckett Edwards; six half-brothers, Noble Layman, Sam, Ocus, Essie and Lake Puckett; one step-sister, Mrs. Della Vincent Parks and one step-brother, Robert Vincent.

She also leaves an uncle, John Croay, of Hardin, an aunt, Mrs. Lizzie Baker, of Jackson, and a brother-in-law, Mr. J. C. Vincent, of Jackson.

Burial was in the Smith cemetery at three o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

Miss Puckett was born in Dexter, the daughter of the late I. D. Puckett, preceded her 15 years ago. She was of a quiet personality, but enjoyed the things of life when health permitted. She was a frequent visitor here with relatives, well-known and enjoying the company of young social set. She bore a heavy load of much sorrow, but her last illness was of 10 months duration, of which the last six weeks was very serious and spent in the hospital. But with all of this she loved life and wished to stay longer.

The remains were shipped here to the home of her half-brother, Essie Puckett, where it rested until burial services.

Her parents were always residents of this town, and both well known over Calloway County. Miss Puckett's funeral services were attended by a large number of relatives and friends who followed her to the last resting place, which with the lovely floral offerings showed the esteem in which her parents are regarded with here and Paducah where she had lived since her early teens, at home and at the hospital all was done that loving hands could do, but God's will, not ours. The mother and her family have the sympathy of a host of relatives and friends here in her bereavement.

Mrs. Mollie Mathis, who was taken ill at the home of her grand-son, Lee Mathis, last Thursday was removed to her daughter's, Mrs. John Andrus, and is at this time very much improved.

Miss Maude Woodall was on the sick list several days.

Mr. Clint Skaggs, and son, Donald returned home from a visit in Mo. with relatives.

Mr. Bob Threatt is improved enough to be able to sit up.

Mr. and Mrs. Estelle Jones and daughter, Donna Jean, Mr. and Mrs. Iva Jones and daughter, Belle Lou, and Mrs. Lorraine Jones motored in for their summer vacation with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Jones, also Mr. and Mrs. Ovey of Benton, and numerous other relatives.

The Dexter Church of Christ meeting closed on the night of June 29th. Splendid crowds and intense interest throughout the week. Jewell Norman did the preaching and his presentations were original, scholarly and forceful. One baptism, and others almost persuaded to follow in the "straight and narrow way". The church was much strengthened by the able manner in which his consecrated services was so vividly pictured, showing so clearly that eternal life can be won only to those who endure faithfully, "thus saith the Lord", to the end. Visiting brethren from Murray, Providence, Hardin, Hickory Grove, Union Hill and Alamo attended nightly, in which the membership was pleased.

Will Mr. Hardy Curd, formerly of Buchanan, Tenn., state by in item in The Ledger & Times the correct date and time of the "Curd Graveyard" clearing for the benefit of relatives here. If such will be held, if he sees this request.

W. A. Rappolee motored in Sunday night to spend a late afternoon with his grandparent, O. F. Curd. Their son, Eunice, was also a visitor with them Thursday night.

Miss Lillian Ernestberger, who spent several days with her Aunt, Mrs. Frank Harris at Providence, is now visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Harris.

Mr. and Mrs. Rappolee spent several days with them and attended the Norman meeting.

Regarding Your Health

The three great forward movements engaging all Public Health Departments right now are:

- First. A Pure or Safe Water Supply.
- Second. A Good Sewerage Disposal System.
- Third. The Efficient PASTEURIZATION of its Milk Supply.

We of course have nothing to do with the first two items, but we are sparing no expense or trouble to furnish this city with EFFICIENTLY PASTEURIZED Milk that is SAFE to drink.

And in addition to its safety—it tastes good.

If you will just try it you will never use any other milk.

A Roof Has Many RESPONSIBILITIES

IT MUST be waterproof to protect the interior of the home and fire-resisting to protect the entire home and health and safety of the family. It must be attractive in order to enhance the beauty and value of the home.

Two things go hand in hand with proper roofing, the quality and construction of the material and the correct application, both insure long life and complete satisfaction. Buckskin roofing has been manufactured for over a quarter of a century and sold only through legitimate and responsible dealers.

The high standard of quality of Buckskin roofing, plus the methods of distribution gives to the consumer the absolute assurance of complete satisfaction in roofing service.

This shingle is manufactured in individual form, having a natural lock butt construction and can be used very successfully either over new sheathing boards or re-roofing over old wooden shingles. The lock construction eliminates any possibility of blowing up or curling, thus giving a very long life and durable roof. The design is of the conventional French pattern, which has been so popular with the American public.

ARRO-LOCK shingles can be obtained in beautiful fast colors of slate green, red, blue black, variegated blend and many blended tone colors.

Home owners will be interested to know that in the United States over a million homes have been roofed with ARRO-LOCK and Super-Tite shingles. This alone should prove the high merits of these shingles.

We are prepared to estimate your roof applied according to the most modern methods, with the most up to date equipment, that does away with the liability to rub the surfacing of slate from your roof, and our method includes replacing any shingle that may have the surfacing disturbed prior to leaving the job. The reason for this is that any roof put without the surfacing will give away at the point so treated in less than one-half the time that a perfect surface will. In this connection we desire to call your attention to the following facts in regard to Buckskin Roofing:

Super-Tite Shingles

To the discriminating buyer, Super-Tite Shingles will meet their every demand. This Shingle gives every advantage of other roof covering, plus two distinctive features combined in the same Shingle. Super-Tite Shingles give double and triple thickness with the addition of a lock butt which prevents any possibility of blowing up or curling. This Shingle lays up in a keystone pattern, giving a distinctive design of beauty.
